Join us for a unique English science lecture.

by YUICHI MORIMOTO, B.Ed, M.A. AND ROBIN EVE, B.Ed, M.A.

Hosted by Kobe University Science Shop and Kobe University Science Shop

Our hosts will recreate the Christmas lectures given by Michael Faraday at the Royal Institution, and recorded in his book The Chemical History of a Candle.

They will introduce Michael Faraday, his life, his achievements and his philosophy. They will show us how a candle can be a demonstration of many basic concepts in science and they will present to Japanese students of English scientific words and concepts in English.

The Lecture will be followed by coffee and snacks.
